

BLADDER CANCER AND CORNEAL ULCER

In 2008 I was diagnosed with Bladder Cancer at 32 years of age. I was devastated when I found out this terrible news, I was too young to have bladder cancer, this was rare for someone my age to get this. Why me?

I saw my Urologist, he removed the tumor, and said that he wanted to see me in 2 months for another Cystoscopy. I went in for my second cystoscopy and to my found that the Tumor grew back again, I was so scared, I asked my Urologist what I should do, he suggested I do a course of the Mitamycin chemotherapy and that should hopefully kill the cancer cells.

After my 6 week chemotherapy treatment I went in for my Third Cystoscopy, and to my surprise the tumor was worse. I didn't understand I thought chemotherapy was suppose to kill cancer, but in my case it was feeding it.

I turned to my Urologist and said "What am I doing wrong, why does it keep growing back"?

He said "Do you smoke"?

I said "No, but maybe I should start"??

He said "no, don't do that"??

I was so confused I was getting no answers, he just said "keep coming back for cystoscopies every 2 months". This was not the answer I was looking for.

I was researching ways to cure myself naturally, but I didn't know what remedy to choose from. I said to my Husband that I wanted to see a Chinese Medicine Doctor. He remembered that his friends Brother was dying from Cancer and a Chinese Doctor cured him, I told my Husband to call his friend, and to get his name and number?? That's when I met Mr Chen.

When I saw Mr Chen for the first time, he lifted this great weight off my shoulders, he said he could help me, and not too worry. He reassured me that everything will be ok. He gave me a diet to follow which I do religiously, and gave me my herbs and acupuncture which I stuck by even though I lived in Canberra. I put all my faith in him, because I felt he was my only hope.

I also mentioned to Mr Chen at my appointment, that I had a corneal ulcer in my right eye, and that I have been to four eye specialists in the Canberra eye hospital, but they could not help me.

The eye specialsit gave me steroid eye drops, and said keep coming back as it was only a temporary cure. However, I was getting severe headaches every day on the right side of my head, and I didn't want to keep taking Panadol. Mr Chen said not to worry he will fix it, he gave me acupuncture in the right side of my head and miraculously the headache disappeared within an hour, and a few days later the corneal ulcer was gone. It has been 1 years since he treated me for this and it has not returned. I felt even more confident with Mr Chen.

Back to my miserable bladder cancer .... After several cystoscopies my Urologist said that I should have BCG chemotherapy as he felt the cancer had worsened?? I didn't understand, I just started doing all the right things...He sent me to see the Oncologist, whom said that I should consider removing my bladder, because if I decide to do the BCG will make the bladder shrink?? I was devastated. I called Mr Chen, he said not to worry, my immune system would fix it.

I said to Mr Chen I do not want to have Chemo again, because it made my cancer worse to begin with, I said I want to continue taking his herbs and having acupuncture, before I make any rash decisions.

I also changed my Urologist, he also suggested not to do the Chemo, and that I will be fine.

After my second Cystoscopy with my new Urologist, I got a phone call from him saying the cancer was gone.....I was in shock, I still am, because it sounds too good to be true.

I can only thank Mr Chen for making this happen, I used his herbs and acupuncture, without any other treatment he truly is miraculous healer. Just persevere with him and you will see results.
